"THOSE WHO ARE EASILY OFFENDED, WILL BE," during the performance of Candide, Too, a bawdy comedy set in 1988. This irreverent treatment of Voltaire's 18th Century Candide has been perpetrated by the Honors Literature Class. Under the supervision of Peggy Brown, the Director of the Interdisciplinary Honors Program (IDH), the Honors Literature class rewrote Voltaire's work. See Billie Cunningham, Martha Ewing, Deanna Wilson, Jill Whitson, and June VanCleeef through the oldest profession known to man; discover the part-time job Loren Miller and Larry Collins never disclosed.

Performance of this DINNER THEATRE production is Friday, December 9, SCC, Area K. Dinner (spaghetti, salad, garlic bread, and homemade dessert) will be served at 7pm, the play will follow at 8pm. Since there will be tables of 8, you may want to get a group together for the fun. BUY YOUR TICKETS NOW BECAUSE WE CAN ONLY SEAT 184 PEOPLE. Tickets are $6 and are available from Jackie Klutts, Office of VPI-CC, ext. 6800 or Carol Jenkins, Student Activities Office-SCC, ext 5788. Any profits made from the production will go to establish a scholarship for Honor students.

LATEST FROM THE LRC:

New Books at the SCC LRC

Clive Barker

Cabal

Universally hailed by critics as a master of the horror fiction genre, Clive Barker here presents a new novel and four short stories.

Arianna Huffington

Picasso: Creator and Destroyer

Written with compelling intensity and narrative power, this extraordinary biography is not just the life of a man, but the story of the twentieth century.

Herman Wouk

War and Remembrance

Now a television series, War and Remembrance is an historical romance. The subject is World War II, the viewpoint American.

Danielle Steel

Zoya

From the revolution in Russia through the "eighties" in New York, Zoya is the story of our time as only Danielle Steel could tell it.

V.C. Andrews

Fallen Hearts

Once again the bestselling author V.C. Andrews tells an enthralling tale of sinister passions and dangerous dreams.
