What do millionaire businessman Ross Perot, a member of the Gatlin Brothers Band, and the powerful pint-size NBA basketball star Spud Webb have in common? They, and half a million other Texans, got their start at a Texas community college. It may be one of the state's best-kept secrets -- some of Texas' best known politicians, entertainers, and business people are graduates of a Texas community college.

February is NATIONAL COMMUNITY COLLEGE MONTH--a time to reflect upon what community, technical, and junior colleges have done and continue to do for our nation. More than five million students took credit classes at America's community colleges last year, representing 41 percent of all undergraduate students and 55 percent of all first-time freshmen in the U.S. The role of the community college has expanded in the past 50 years. In this time, the number of community, technical, and junior colleges has grown from 553 in 1937 to 1,222 in 1987.

The February 3 debut of the Spring Creek Campus' Plaza Theatre is just one way of celebrating NATIONAL COMMUNITY COLLEGE MONTH at CCCC. This event has been re-scheduled for Friday, February 10. For ticket information, please call Connie Walker, ext. 5634.
