Attendance Policy:

Because each class period will consist of a mixture of lecture, discussion, group work, and freewriting, your thoughtful, attentive, and active participation is essential (and will form a portion of your grade). If you sleep, engage in non-class-related activities, or interfere with your classmates' ability to learn you will be counted absent for that day. Be on time—class will start promptly. Leaving early will count as an absence.

Attendance is absolutely crucial to your success in Eng 1301. I encourage you to come to every class meeting; otherwise, you will miss a great deal of information and material you need to succeed in this course.

Each student is allowed three (3) missed classes, no questions asked. Save them for when you really need them. Each additional absence above the noted three will cause 1 point to be deducted off your final letter grade for the semester.

Tardies: If a student is more than 5 minutes late, he or she will be counted absent for the day.

Supplemental Readings: Some readings will be posted on blackboard and announced in class.

Rhetorical Analysis- In this essay, students will respond to one of the readings or a visual example that discusses strategies and/or techniques used by the writer and/or artist.

Rhetorical Strategies Assignment: Each student will sign-up for 2 different meetings with the professor. The student is responsible for bringing a one-page document that highlights a rhetorical strategy while discussing a particular issue/concern as outlined on Canvas. Each response is worth 50 points. A portfolio of the two conferences with revisions will be due at the end of the semester for 50 points.

Essay 2- Persuasive Essay: In this essay, students will choose an issue or concern related to their major area of study and/or career, take a stance, and defend their thesis with research. Instructions are on Canvas.

Make-Up Or Late Work: If an assignment is turned in late, or after the due date, only half credit, or 50%, for that particular assignment is possible. After one week, the student will receive a “0” for the assignment.

Lab: The lab component is an integral part of this writing course. Over the course of the semester, you will need to complete at least two selections from the list below. This lab is not the same as regular daily course work that you must complete to stay on track in the class; it is, instead, designed as additional writing-focused activities that will help improve your writing throughout the term. During the semester, you will need to track and provide evidence (hard-copy) of completing these lab requirements outside of class.
