Attendance Policy: Each student is expected to attend class regularly and participate, and each student's success in this class is directly tied to attendance. Students gain essential information and skills during in-class activities; therefore, students who miss a significant number of classes will most likely not have what they need to successfully complete the course. Also, please note that the information presented during class cannot reasonably be "told" to you by a professor at a later date.

After six class absences (for MWF classes) or four (for T/TR or M/W classes), your grade will be lowered one letter grade. Additional absences will lower your grade at a rate of five points (half a letter grade) per week. Please note that two or three instances of tardiness, depending on lateness, will count as one absence.

You are responsible for anything you miss during your absence or tardiness. Be prepared upon your return to class to take a quiz, turn in a paper, or to discuss the reading and assignments for that day.

Special treatment will not be given to a student who adds the course late. That student will earn absences and zeroes just as a student who was signed up before the term started and simply failed to come to class.

I don't like to be in a position to have to "judge" one student's excuse against another, so I leave it up to you to save or spend your absences as you see fit. Of course, if you are facing unusual or serious problems please make an appointment to talk with me in my office. I will try to help you in a way that is fair to everyone.

College Repeat Policy:

Grades of all courses taken will be recorded on the student's transcript. The highest grade earned will be used in computing the grade point average and applied toward degree or program requirements. Beginning fall 2002, a course in which a grade (including W) has been received can be repeated only one (1) time to replace the grade. The grade received does not affect the student's ability to repeat a course. Registration holds will be placed on courses that have been attempted twice.

When a course is repeated: 1. Only one (1) course/grade will be counted in a student's GPA. 2. The highest grade will be used in GPA calculations.

Courses repeated before fall 2008 will have only the last grade and credits (whether higher or lower) earned used in computing the grade point average and applied toward degree or program requirements.

Veterans should consult the Director of Financial Aid/Veterans Affairs before repeating any course. Students planning to transfer to another college or university should check with a Collin College academic planning consultant (advisor) or with receiving institutions for their repeat policies. See the Registration Guide for details on specific courses.

7-2.3 Scholastic Dishonesty

Every member of the Collin College community is expected to maintain the highest standards of academic integrity. Collin College may initiate disciplinary proceedings against a student accused of scholastic dishonesty. Scholastic dishonesty includes, but is not limited to, statements, acts, or omissions related to applications for enrollment, credit or class work, research, the award of a degree, and/or submitting work that is not one's own. All work submitted for credit is expected to be the student's own work.

Scholastic dishonesty shall involve, but is not limited to, one or more of the following acts: plagiarism, cheating, collusion, use of annotated texts or teacher's editions, use of information about exams posted on the Internet or in any electronic medium, and/or falsifying academic records. Students are expected to record honestly and accurately the results of all their research. Falsification of research results includes misrepresentations, distortions, or omissions in data or reports on research. While specific examples are listed below, this is not an exhaustive list and scholastic dishonesty may encompass other conduct, including any conduct through electronic or computerized means:

Plagiarism is the use of an author's words or ideas as if they were one's own without giving credit to the source, including, but not limited to, failure to acknowledge a direct quotation. In the preparation of all papers and other written work, students must distinguish their own ideas and knowledge from information derived from other sources. The term "sources" includes not only published primary and secondary materials, but also information and opinions gained directly from other people. Whenever ideas or facts are derived from a source, the source(s) must be indicated by the student.

There is a thing called “self-plagiarism,” or “re-gifting a paper.” I do not accept papers you have written for other assignments in other classes.

Cheating is the willful giving or receiving of information in an unauthorized manner during an examination or to complete an assignment; collaborating with another student during an examination without authority; using, buying, selling, soliciting, stealing, or otherwise obtaining course assignments and/or examination questions in advance; unauthorized copying of computer or Internet files; using someone else’s work for assignments as if it were one’s own; submitting or resubmitting an assignment (in whole or in part) for more than one (1) class or institution without permission from the professor(s); or any other dishonest means of attempting to fulfill the requirements of a course.

Collusion is intentionally or unintentionally aiding or attempting to aid another in an act of scholastic dishonesty, including but not limited to, failing to secure academic work; providing a paper or project to another student; providing an inappropriate level of assistance or unauthorized collaboration; communicating answers to a classmate about an examination or any other course assignment; removing tests or answer sheets from a test site; and allowing a classmate to copy answers.

In cases where an incident report has been filed for an alleged violation of scholastic dishonesty, a faculty member is requested to delay posting a grade for the academic work in question, until the case is final. Students found responsible for scholastic dishonesty offenses will receive an authorized disciplinary penalty or penalties from the Dean of Student Development Office. The student may also receive an academic penalty in the course where the scholastic dishonesty took place. The faculty member will determine the appropriate academic penalty.

Depending on the circumstances, in my class, students will receive an “F” for the entire course.

Course Calendar:

Major assignments and due dates are listed here. This calendar does not include quizzes, activities and other assignments.

Week 1

August 27 – 31

Assignments:

Thoroughly read the syllabus.

Set up an account at Turnitin.com. Instructions for setting up your account, and the password and ID number you will need can be found in “Information” module on Canvas.

Get your books. If you order them online, consider choosing overnight or two-day shipping so that you will have the books by next week.

This week, and in weeks to come, during class I will announce the writing assignments (journals), quizzes, and other types of smaller graded work. Please note: only major grades appear here on the syllabus.

Read the short story by Katherine Mansfield titled “Bliss.” You can find it here:

Week 16

December 11 - 15
Final Exam Week (We will not have a Final Exam.)

Some of the items on this syllabus are subject to change. I will inform you as soon as possible of any changes that will affect your grades.

Additional Information:

Make-Up Or Late Work: Because I will drop one or more of your lowest quiz grades, quizzes cannot be made up. Papers may be turned in late, but each day your assignment is late, the grade will drop five points. (Perhaps you will decide that another day to work on your paper will be worth that five-point penalty.) An assignment is deemed late if it is turned in more than ten minutes after the beginning of class the day it is due. If you miss an in-class essay, you will be able to make it up either in the Testing Center or during my office hours, depending on the circumstances. Appropriate late penalties will apply to those essays as well.

Additional Notes:

Unless otherwise directed, bring your class textbooks to each class meeting.

Electronic devices such as cell phones must have the power off during class.

No recording of class meetings or office conferences is allowed.

Take good class notes. You will need them to write your essays, and to study for quizzes and the final exam.

Please protect yourself by making your own back-up copy of every out-of-class essay and paper you submit. In addition, keep a folder of all your graded work, including quizzes. You may need this folder later to prove your grade. (Because grade books can be lost, and computers do crash, I recommend students keep a folder like this for every class they take.)

Sign up for Cougar Alert

When an emergency occurs, the CougarAlert system can send email, text messages and voice messages to students and employees. Emergencies include but are not limited to weather closures, power outages, police emergencies, catastrophes and/or hazardous exposures.

Collin College employees and students in for-credit classes are partially subscribed automatically, but must log into CougarWeb to add SMS/text and update other preferences.
