COURSE INFORMATION

Course Number: ENGL 2332

Course Title: World Literature I

Course Description: A survey of world literature from the ancient world through the sixteenth century. Students will study works of prose, poetry, drama, and fiction in relation to their historical and cultural contexts. Texts will be selected from a diverse group of authors and traditions.

Course Credit Hours: 3

Lecture Hours: 3

Prerequisite: ENGL 1302 or ENGL 2311

Student Learning Outcomes:

- State-mandated Outcomes: Upon successful completion of this course, students will:
 1. Identify key ideas, representative authors and works, significant historical or cultural events, and characteristic perspectives or attitudes expressed in the literature of different periods or regions.
 2. Analyze literary works as expressions of individual or communal values within the social, political, cultural, or religious contexts of different literary periods. (Social Responsibility)
 3. Demonstrate knowledge of the development of characteristic forms or styles of expression during different historical periods or in different regions.
 4. Articulate the aesthetic principles that guide the scope and variety of works in the arts and humanities.
 5. Write research-based critical papers about the assigned readings in clear and grammatically correct prose, using various critical approaches to literature. (Critical Thinking and Communication Skills)
- Additional Collin Outcome: Upon successful completion of this course, students should be able to do the following:
 1. Demonstrate personal responsibility through the ethical use of intellectual property. (Personal Responsibility)

OTHER POLICIES

Email:

All emails should come from your Cougarmail account. I will not respond to email from a non-Cougarmail account. Additionally, you will need to include which course and section you are enrolled in. Please use proper email etiquette when addressing your professors. Email should only be used to make an appointment outside of office hours. I do not discuss grades via email. Questions about grades and assignments should be addressed during an appointment, not via email.

Papers and Exams:

Students will take three exams (one over each literary era we study). Each exam will include an essay component. Additionally, students will write a five-page formal essay, to be submitted to the instructor to TurnItIn.com. This essay will be graded electronically. If there are technical issues which prevent uploading the paper, contact the professor immediately; do not wait until class meets, so you do not miss your assignment deadline. Please note that it is the student's responsibility to check paper grades in a timely manner. Students are encouraged to print a digital receipt after uploading their essays, in case of technical issues.

Late Work Policy:

I do not accept late work, and all work is due at the beginning of class on the assigned dates. Please do not email me your papers. Exceptions to this policy will only be granted in cases of genuinely extenuating circumstances. Contacting me beforehand is an excellent way to improve the chances that I will consider your circumstances to be truly extenuating. Last-minute computer problems, oversleeping, etc. do not qualify as extenuating circumstances. If you must be absent on a day that an assignment is due, please turn it in early. Quizzes and other in-class assignments may not be made up.

Class Discussion:

In this class, we will be discussing a variety of topics-some of which you may feel strongly about. Remember...not everyone has to, or should, agree. We are all different people from different backgrounds. What may seem "right" to you may not be the same as someone else. Please respect the other students' differences (as well as mine), and they will respect yours. If you feel that someone in this class is not following this agreement, please see me. If at any time I feel that you are not showing respect to me or others, I will discuss this with you. A continuation in similar behavior will result in further action. Please put all mobile phones on silent or vibrate before entering the classroom. In addition, all phones must be put away during class time. There should be no reason to use your phone during class time.

Academic Ethics:

Please see section 7-2.2 of the Collin Student Handbook.

All cases of academic dishonesty will be reported to the Dean of Students' office for investigation. Students found responsible for academic dishonesty will receive a penalty ranging from a zero on the essay to an F in the course, depending on the severity of the incident.

Final Note:

The instructor will make changes in objectives, assignments, and due dates for this course if necessary. Any changes will be announced beforehand in class.
