

5-1-1989

Moment

Leigh V. Salisbury

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.collin.edu/forces>

Recommended Citation

Salisbury, Leigh V. (1989) "Moment," Forces: Vol. 1989, Article 12.

Available at: <https://digitalcommons.collin.edu/forces/vol1989/iss1/12>

This Poem is brought to you for free and open access by DigitalCommons@Collin. It has been accepted for inclusion in Forces by an authorized editor of DigitalCommons@Collin. For more information, please contact mtomlin@collin.edu.

Leigh V. Salisbury

Moment

A late breeze is getting chill,
and I shiver just slightly as I watch her.
Not following the conversation,
I keep getting lost in her expressions,
in the way her eyes get intense when she's speaking of something she loves.
I understand three sentences in a row,
then she tilts her head back to laugh at something and the unconscious beauty of that image:
 the curve of her throat, high cheekbones
 coloured with the flush of a drink, the glint in those night-dark eyes-- is so strong I have to look away
and stop breathing for a moment.