What Was Wrong With Us?

DAVID DRANE

Rolling through my old neighborhood
 My son and I
 Then 703 Bumpas Street came to mind
 Now I didn't realize or maybe I forgot
 We were standing in the same spot
 Where the old security guard was shot and dropped
 Right in front of our bus stop
 Where no one cared or had enough love
 To clean up the glass and pool of blood
 Where yellow crime tape hovered over chalk lines
 And spent shells covered up speed bumps
 In front of the place
 Where young children would catch the bus
 And the city still had the nerve to ask...
 "What was wrong with us?"
