Did you see young Johnny march off to war?
shoulders back, head high,
arm around Mom,
Sue, and Kathy Jo,
his kit stuffed
with brown and gray,
an 'I Love You, Daddy'
tucked in with clean socks.

Did you see young Johnny
far away from home?
war churned days
into months, into a year,
no revolving door,
just endless wind,
sun and patrol,
without a line in the sand
where it would all stop.

Did you miss young Johnny
far away from home?
war churned days
into months, into a year,
no revolving door,
just endless wind,
sun and patrol,
without a line in the sand
where it would all stop.

Did you see young Johnny
arrive home today?
no fanfare, no buddies,
one lone black car
and me inside,
a silver medal
lay in my hand,
we drive the final mile
to end his 640 days.

It was that flood winter.
The house went from under me – mudsliding into the ruined past.

No time to prepare, just get out, get out quick as it all collapses.

Sheets of rain slashed the street.
Garbage cans capsized, rolled downhill, ooisy and damaged like drunks.

My heart watched the For Sale sign beating in the wind and I signed our lives
into the downpour

Anemones flourished early that year even so.
