America the Beautiful by Attilio Bonacoroso Jr.

Did you see young Johnny march off to war?
shoulders back, head high,
arm around Mom,
Sue, and Kathy Jo,
his kit stuffed
with brown and gray,
an 'I Love You, Daddy'
tucked in with clean socks.

Did you miss young Johnny far away from home?
war churned days
into months, into a year,
no revolving door,
just endless wind,
sun and patrol,
without a line in the sand where it would all stop.

Did you see young Johnny arrive home today?
no fanfare, no buddies,
one lone black car
and me inside,
a silver medal
lay in my hand,
we drive the final mile
to end his 640 days.

Moving on

It was that flood winter.
The house went from under me – mudsliding into the ruined past.

No time to prepare, just get out, get out quick as it all collapses.

Sheets of rain slashed the street.
Garbage cans capsized, rolled downhill, oily and damaged like drunks.

My heart watched the For Sale sign beating in the wind
and I signed our lives
into the downpour

Anemones flourished early that year even so.
