

5-1-2002

D-dad

Roxanne Geib

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.collin.edu/forces>

Recommended Citation

Geib, Roxanne (2002) "D-dad," Forces: Vol. 2002 , Article 20.

Available at: <https://digitalcommons.collin.edu/forces/vol2002/iss1/20>

This Poem is brought to you for free and open access by DigitalCommons@Collin. It has been accepted for inclusion in Forces by an authorized editor of DigitalCommons@Collin. For more information, please contact mtomlin@collin.edu.

D-dad

Roxanne Geib

I don't remember your smile
I don't remember your bird watching skills (although I've seen the results)
I don't remember your sense of humor
I don't remember your stories (although I've heard the tales)
I don't remember your like of photography
I don't even remember being called princess Rocky

However

I do remember the sound of your voice
I do remember "helping" you cook (mostly I remember nibbling on the ingredients to your dishes)
I do remember the way you smelled and the feel of your hugs I do remember picking you up from some building and for some reason I only remember you wearing white but most of all, more than the rest, I remember the way you didn't come clomping down the steps to answer the door

S. Day