

Forces

Volume 2020

Article 13

5-1-2020

Centralia

Rebecca Frazier

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.collin.edu/forces>

Recommended Citation

Frazier, Rebecca (2020) "Centralia," Forces: Vol. 2020 , Article 13.

Available at: <https://digitalcommons.collin.edu/forces/vol2020/iss1/13>

This Poem is brought to you for free and open access by DigitalCommons@Collin. It has been accepted for inclusion in Forces by an authorized editor of DigitalCommons@Collin. For more information, please contact mtomlin@collin.edu.

Sailor's Delight James Goodman

Centralia

Rebecca Frazier

Nobody strikes a match
Quite like the Keystone State
Presses smoldering lips
To Mother Nature's
Incendiary face

She has been blushing
For well over half a century
A courtship that burns so hot
That all it leaves in its wake
Is barely an afterthought

It will outlast us
For untold lifetimes

In nineteen sixty-two
Centralia woke up
Experienced an adrenaline rush
Within its network
Of powder-keg veins

No man could quell or contain
Centralia is quite literally
Bursting at the seams
Producing enough fire to forge
Timeless American ghost stories
The haunting of a place
That simply ceased to be