

Forces

Volume 2021

Article 64

3-15-2021

Voyagers

Susan R. Mardele

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.collin.edu/forces>

Recommended Citation

Mardele, Susan R. (2021) "Voyagers," Forces: Vol. 2021 , Article 64.

Available at: <https://digitalcommons.collin.edu/forces/vol2021/iss1/64>

This Poem is brought to you for free and open access by DigitalCommons@Collin. It has been accepted for inclusion in Forces by an authorized editor of DigitalCommons@Collin. For more information, please contact mtomlin@collin.edu.

Voyagers

Susan R. Mardele

My life has been about dropping the mask,
being more authentically myself,
Coming out from behind the curtain ...
like Oz.

And now, a mask is required.
COVID so dictates.

That all-important smile hidden behind paper or cheery fabrics.

Often times it seems people think eye contact can spread the virus.

In the grocery store, on the walking trail,
the street.

But a smile shows beyond the mouth
to the eyes, the tone of voice.

Eye contact, a kind word, a nod
that we're all in this together,

Is a way to come out from behind the mask ...
even with a mask on.

And be human.

Another voyager along with the rest ...

Just trying to navigate these uncertain waters.

Pasture Ride • Debra St. John