I wish I could color the world as freely as a toddler with a box of crayons.

A Box of Crayons

River Cienfuegos

I don't get birthday gifts or Christmas presents,
But I find solace when the sky blushes in pinks, purples, and yellows.
On candles. On dandelions. On eyelashes.
I wish I could color the world as freely as a toddler with a box of crayons.
One after the other, juvenile indulgence, confidently grabbing for the next.
Shrapnel crayon buds breadcrumb the floor.
Covering the walls in impressionist scribbles,
A return to our cavemen roots.
